Youth Services Story Map

This product takes the form of a StoryMap designed for clinicians and policymakers. The objective is to furnish them with resources to 1) enhance their understanding and meaningful connection to the communities they serve and 2) share targeted resources with their patients and families, fostering connectedness and continuity of support within those communities. The overarching goal is to incorporate positive youth development (PYD) sites and establish a risk index for suicidal risk for youth, categorized by county. The intention is to inform clinicians and policymakers about the specific protective factors, tailored per county based on data, that would be most supportive in improving mental health for youth.
