

Team 5

Kaela Williams, Sara Arèvalo

Unrooted

Through poetry and music, we use our two art forms to express the longing for stability and the heartache of displacement. As first-generation, first-year medical students, this topic is very personal. Our piece includes the voices of my niece and a close friend who are all too familiar with what it means to be unrooted. Our goal is to shed light on the housing struggles faced by underserved communities and reveal how systemic gaps perpetuate these disparities.

Listen to MP3

