

Team 9

Sam Hamburger, Sara Honaker, Marah Maaita, Sophia Ryan

Affordable Housing, Mobile Homes and Hurricanes

This project highlights a commonly overlooked yet widely used form of affordable housing—mobile homes. As climate change intensifies hurricanes in North Carolina, it's critical that we address the vulnerability of mobile home residents. In this story, we will explore how climate change is leading to stronger hurricanes, the effects on affordable housing, the specific risks faced by mobile homes, and share stories from real folx in North Carolina. Additionally, we'll present frameworks to address these challenges and offer ideas for better understanding the complexities of affordable housing moving forward.

StoryMap

